GOVERNORS SCORE THE NEVADA LAW.

Executives of Other States Are Vigorously Opposed to Legalizing Prize-Fighting.

Governor Sadler, of Nevada, Tells the Journal That He Signed the Bill Because the People Wanted It.

Corbett Thinks the New Law Is One of the Best Things in the World for Fighting—Fitzsimmons, Too, Is Pleased with It.

The recent passage, in Nevada, of a bill which legalizes prize-fighting, under conditions not unprecedented, has aroused considerable comment to all sections of the country.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons Are Well Pleased.

Editor New York Journal:
In my opinion the fighting bill just passed by the Nevada State Legislature and signed by the Governor is the best thing in the world for fighting. It is the only bill of the kind that has ever been passed in any State, and it is the only one that has ever been signed by a Governor. It is the only one that has ever been signed by a Governor who is a champion fighter. It is the only one that has ever been signed by a Governor who is a champion fighter. It is the only one that has ever been signed by a Governor who is a champion fighter.

"An Utterly Iniquitous Act."
